Medical Travel in Costa Rica Provides an Incredible Level of Support

The True Benefit of Medical Travel to The Under Insured, the Self Insured, and the Uninsured

As I sit in the wonderful and modern facility of Surgery Clinica Biblica I'm struck by what a fantastic resource we have got here in Costa Rica. I know by this time that many have heard that Costa Rica features JCI accredited hospices but the actuality does not strike the patient until they actually arrive. I spent a year nursing my sister at one of the best surgeries in the North East and I am able to say unequivocally that the difference between the two is akin to the service one receives in your local mom and pop store versus what one could expect in an automatic factory.

Take today's example my customer a girl from Georgia required an emergency hysterectomy due to cancer. So naturally the insurance corporation to which she's been paying into for years found some clause or another and started intimating that she was not covered. Now when emergency surgery is needed the last thing you want is to be fighting with the uncertainty of an 80 thousand greenback broke cost. Even with the insurance coverage she possessed she was looking at twenty five thousand greenbacks out of pocket costs.

Enter Health Check Costa Rica, after finding our web site created to help patients with their medical travel plans I talked with the patient about her concerns of which she had many. Considering important surgery in a foreign land is a daunting concept at the very best. This is where the role of facilitator becomes instrumental in communicating the true quality and realities of Medical Travel to Costa Rica. So we introduced the patient to several options and at last prepared for a 3 way tele-conference with the surgeon. Well once again thank heavens for the facilitator, while the doctor is a renowned surgeon lets just say that between the language barrier and a slightly less than effusive phone demeanour we managed to get all of the patients questions answered to her satisfaction.

Now as the patient arrives here's where the variances between this hospice and its Northern US counterparts actually struck me. This is not a factory, Clinica Biblica has a warm atmosphere and it's full of lovely trained staff the pure number of which surprised even me. There were friendly folks on hand to service the patients every need from drivers to the coordinator and even the Director of international services was on hand to welcome and comfort the patient. I have never seen anything like it, and I guarantee that most individuals coming here will be exceedingly pleasantly stunned at the pro atmosphere, the modernity of the facility and most vitally the warm and private attention that comes so naturally to Professional Costa Ricans.

As a footnote please know that the same surgery with a globally famous consultant including 10 days of recovery stay for her and her man worked out to under Eleven Thousand bucks, excluding airline ticket.
